PREPARE, INC., AN IMPACT ORGANIZATION

UPPER SCHOOL PROGRAMS

ABOUT PREPARE INC.

Prepare Inc. is an educational services company that offers comprehensive violence prevention programs and evidence-based programs for personal safety, communication skills, and self-defense. Our school programs are designed to empower students and improve their safety and well-being by simultaneously lowering risk factors and raising protective factors. Prepare is recognized for its ability to communicate with young people and tailor its programs to always be age-appropriate.

Since 1992, Prepare Inc. has served over 30,000 young people and adults and provided programs and trainings for over 30 K-12 schools.

9TH -12TH GRADE PROGRAMS

Prepare Inc. offers the following programs for Upper School students:

- Personal Safety
- Healthy Relationships
- Health Education

Improving the safety of young people is a community-wide effort. Therefore, we highly recommend combining one or more of these programs with the Parent, Caregiver, and Educator Workshop. The workshop encourages and multiplies a community of positive adult role models who are able to reinforce the lessons learned.

Violence Prevention

Healthy Boundaries

Assertive Communication

Self-Defense

Personal Safety

Can students anticipate problems and take actions to avoid danger? Can they use communication skills to clearly set boundaries in friendships and romantic relationships? Can they resist physical aggression and find safety?

The young people you care about need life skills that will help them stay safer.

The program provides teens (Grades 8-12) with age-appropriate, comprehensive, violence prevention education, including personal safety, self-advocacy, and self-reliance. Students learn to distinguish between instincts and bias when assessing threats to their safety. We emphasize the importance of de-escalating situations. Physical resistance skills are a last resort option. Students practice accessing help and support from adults. These tools are ultimately useful in many contexts, from street safety to peer pressure and bullying, and managing unwelcome touch or sexual advances.

Method and Curriculum

Through interactive self-defense instruction, this program offers personal safety tools that are applicable to all age levels and individual needs. Participants practice problem-solving scenarios and verbal role-play exercises to learn how to identify, assess, and manage uncomfortable and potentially harmful situations.

Participants learn how to:

- BE AWARE of their environment
- ASSESS risk and detect threats to their physical and emotional safety
- COMMUNICATE boundaries with friends, family members, intimate partners, and authority figures
- TAKE ACTION physically and verbally to handle unsafe situations and manage the adrenalized response

The Personal Safety program is best delivered in a 12-16 hour program with groups of 20 students. This program can be tailored to fit your school's needs.

Healthy Relationships

*How can I support a friend in an unhealthy relationship?
Speak up if someone treats me in a way I don't like?
Set limits around sexual intimacy?*

By Upper School, many teens have been exposed to or have experienced:

- relationship abuse or sexual boundary violation
- recreational use of alcohol/drugs
- pressure to conform to group behavior or gender norms

Young people have some understanding around these topics, but they have not had the opportunity to learn how to respond appropriately in the moment when they feel stressed out, confused, or intimidated. The program for teens (Grades 8 -12) provides opportunity for each student to practice self-advocacy.

Method and Curriculum

Within a safe environment with adult guidance, students learn how to think critically and identify disrespectful or dangerous behavior within relationships (including social media interactions). Students rehearse verbal and non-verbal communication skills such as confident body language, strategies for setting boundaries in an authentic voice, and how to navigate coercion or manipulations.

Students who participate in the program learn to:

- ESTABLISH safer and more supportive peer relationships (friendship and romantic)
- SET LIMITS in situations that make them uncomfortable or are potentially dangerous
- DEVELOP the skills to resist peer pressure and stay true to one's values
- UNDERSTAND the social context for violence and the influence of societal norms

The Healthy Relationships program is best delivered as 12 one-hour sessions for groups of 20 students. The program can be tailored to fit your school's needs.

Health Education Program

Quality health education imparts the knowledge and skills young people need to excel in school and relationships and become healthy and productive adults.

The program delivers sequential, developmentally appropriate content to teens (Grades 8-12). Led by trained and certified facilitators, our instruction focuses on teaching both knowledge and skill development.

Our effective methodology results in immediate positive changes in students' behavior that lowers risk and improves decision-making around alcohol, tobacco, and sex. Students learn how to care for themselves mentally, physically and emotionally, and how to ask for adult help when needed.

Method and Curriculum

Through role-play, activities, and discussion, this program: examines the values and beliefs that support positive health behaviors; provides opportunities to analyze personal and social pressures to engage in risky behaviors; and builds competence and self-efficacy – all characteristics of effective health education, according to the Center for Disease Control and Prevention.

Customizable curriculum may include:

- PHYSICAL & MENTAL HEALTH - types of stress and healthy coping skills
- DRUG, ALCOHOL & TOBACCO USE - navigating peer pressure and media literacy
- ADDICTION - neurology and cultural norms
- SEX, SEXUALITY & GENDER - psychological and biological expression

The Health Education program is best delivered in 12 one-hour sessions in groups of 20 students. This program can be tailored to fit your school's needs.
